DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

1. The information disclosure statements (IDS) submitted on 01/03/05 were in compliance with the provisions of 37 CFR 1.97. Accordingly, the information disclosure statements were considered by the Examiner.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 101

2. 35 U.S.C. 101 reads as follows:

Whoever invents or discovers any new and useful process, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof, may obtain a patent therefor, subject to the conditions and requirements of this title.

3. Claims 17-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 101 because the claimed invention is directed to non-statutory subject matter. The claims are directed to a carrier medium comprising program instructions, which appears to be nothing more than a signal carrying instructions for execution not tangibly embodied in a manner so as to be executable and is thus non-statutory for failing to be in one of the categories of invention.

Allowable Subject Matter

4. Claims 1-16 are allowed.
5. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:
6. The provision for one or more clients each comprising a message gate configured for sending and receiving messages in a data representation language to and from a respective paired message gate at another device, a message transport implementing a transport protocol for sending and receiving messages, wherein each one of the message gates is configured to send and receive messages independently of the other message gates while sharing the message transport is not fairly taught or suggested by the prior art of record. Examiner finds particular novelty in the claimed message gate, which is defined in the Specification, p. 30, line 25 through p. 32, line 18, as an interface comprising code generated based on a description (e.g., an XML schema) for accessing a target entity (e.g., a client). Additionally, sending messages to specific destination addresses formatted in a data representation language, such as XML, between such message gates using a message transport implementing a transport protocol was found to be a novel aspect of the claimed invention. Support for this functionality can be found in the Specification, p. 44, line 23 through p. 27, line 3 and Fig. 47 and 48.

7. Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
